The Head of State introduced Vasyl Malyuk to the leadership of the SBU

February 13, 2023 - 12:35

President of Ukraine Volodymyr Zelenskyy on Monday introduced the newly appointed head of the Security Service of Ukraine, Vasyl Malyuk, to the leadership of the SBU.

The Head of State noted that Major General Vasyl Malyuk is a combat officer and specialist.

"Since the beginning of the full-scale invasion, Vasyl Vasylovich Malyuk has proven that he is a patriot, a professional, and exactly the person who should lead the Security Service of our state," Volodymyr Zelenskyy emphasized.

According to the President, the SBU is dynamically and fundamentally changing, becoming a strong and modern service.

"The enemy knows that these professional people who are here will not give him a single chance. And that is why he is very afraid of you. The main thing is to ensure all this and not lose it until the end of the war and after our victory. Because there will be a lot of trials in our state," he said.

Volodymyr Zelenskyy noted that the SBU is currently fighting collaborators.

"I really believe that you, Vasyl Vasylovich, and your colleagues will deal with these issues," the Head of State emphasized.

The President praised the work of the Security Service employees, in particular those who are fighting the enemy in the temporarily occupied territories of Ukraine.

"I support you personally, Vasyl Vasylovich, and your colleagues. I wish all of you, your families health, and all of us - victory! Glory to Ukraine!" he said.

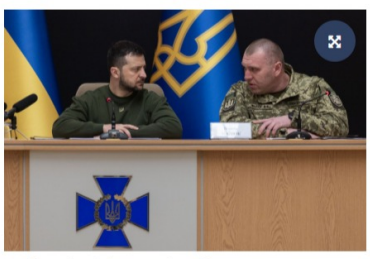

At the request of Volodymyr Zelenskyy, those present observed a minute of silence to honor the special services employees who died while performing important tasks in the temporarily occupied territories, in Bakhmut and other cities, where fierce confrontation with the Russian aggressor continues.

For his part, Vasyl Malyuk thanked the President for his trust and promised that the entire SBU personnel would not let him down, as they understand the level of responsibility and challenges.

"Now the SBU is working systematically: from conducting unique special operations to documenting war crimes of the Russian Federation," the head of the Security Service noted.

Vasyl Malyuk emphasized that no imitation of active work is acceptable now.

"Today, this is real operational combat work, counter-sabotage, anti-terrorist operations. And those who did not have time to absorb this - sorry, we will say goodbye to them," he said.

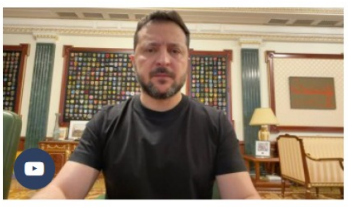

According to the head of the SBU, special emphasis is placed on counterintelligence today. At the same time, the Security Service is also actively fighting the internal enemy.

"There should be full control of the operational situation and timely detection of any systemic threats to state governance. And not only detection, but also rapid operational response, documentation and detention of the villains," Vasyl Malyuk is convinced.

The head of the SBU emphasized that the Ukrainian people expect victory in the war with the Russian occupier, and assured that the Security Service will do everything possible and impossible to accelerate this victory.
